The Valedictorian That Lives At Home With Mommy And Daddy: How To Bridge The Gap Between Academic Achievement And Real World Success.

Synopsis

This book outlines the disconnect between academic achievement and real world success.

According to the Pew Research Center, 45% of recent college graduates were living with family in 2011, and the numbers are rising every year. Approximately 65% of parents expect to support their kids for up to 5 years after they graduate from college. The numbers tell us the whole story: school is not preparing the majority of college students to thrive in the real world. My book provides solutions.
